The right cutlery is the finishing touch to any table setting

About Stainless Steel

Stainless steel is an Iron and Chromium alloy containing more than 11% Chromium. The guide below will help you in choosing the right cutlery for your needs.

18/10 Stainless Steel

This is used for contemporary cutlery (excluding kitchen knives). It contains 18-20% Chromium and 8-10% Nickel. This is the only stainless steel which can guarantee against corrosion when properly cared for.

18/0 Stainless Steel

This steel is used for value cutlery ranges. It has 16-18% Chromium which ensures it is resistant to corrosion.

13/10 Stainless Steel

This steel is used for knives as it can be hardened to create a sharp edge. It contains 16-18% chromium and is less resistant to corrosion.

Cutlery - Care in Use

- Always follow the appliance instructions for use
- Use special salt and water softener to reduce corrosion
- Remove and dry the cutlery immediately to avoid staining and pitting
- Special attention is required when washing and drying kitchen knives of all types, as they are frailer than cutlery
- Never mix silver with stainless steel as a chemical reaction between the steel and the detergent can cause the silver to mark
- Cutlery should be washed immediately after use if possible. If this is impossible food debris should be removed before washing
- Do not use harsh or improper washing powder or corrosive liquids such as bleach or vinegar
- Do not use hard washing brushes such as cleaning wire
- All cutlery should be stored in dry places
- It is not recommended that you mix 18/10 cutlery and 18/0 when washing

Colour Codes for Hygiene

Colour coding is the idea of designating particular and consistent colour schemes to cleaning products and processes. Its purpose is to segregate equipment and procedures in order to prevent cross contamination in the home and workplace.

RED

High Risk Sanitary Areas such as Toilets, Urinals and Washroom Floors

BLUE

Low Risk General Area such as desk tops, window ledges, dusting & polishing

GREEN

Catering Departments
Food processing, food service & bar areas

YELLOW

Washbasins & surfaces including tiled walls, mirrors, glass & metal

Follow the rules below to use colour coding successfully and help prevent cross contamination

1. Make Colour Coding part of your employee induction training and continuous training programme.
2. Monitor the colour coding system on an ongoing basis to make sure it remains effective.
3. Always start in the cleanest, least contaminated area leaving washrooms until last.
4. Colour coded products include Mops, Buckets, Cloths, Brushes, Squeegees, Dustpans, Gloves, Aprons, Bins, Bin Bags, Micro Fibre Dusters, Cleaners Trolleys etc.
